

Public Consultation Inbox x

Dear Sir

I have read your Public Consultation booklet on the three options.

Surely there is 4th option that maximises the savings but retains your identities and management control.

Wiltshire and Dorset merge their back-office functions. This can be treated as if each Fire Service is outsourcing this work except it is to the staff who have joined together to make the savings.

I accept there would be difficulties with this joint function having two management teams with whom they must work but it seems to offer of the plus points with reduced negative ones.

Because I hope you might consider this and other alternatives I have not so far indicated any preference on your web site survey.

That is a huge url you hoped everyone would type in correctly first time. Then one finds the survey is not on that page. You have to click on image of the leaflet then once more to discover the survey button is viewable only once Page Down is clicked 5 times.
