"Being an on-call firefighter firefighter isn't just about fighting fires."

Shannon, 23, who also works as a care assistant, says she loves the excitement and adrenaline the job brings and the family feel of fire service life. One minute she can be out working in the community the next on a fire engine with sirens blaring on her way to save somebody.

"My daughter is always introducing me to others as 'my dad the firefighter'."

Dad-of-four Shahbaz, 47, says his understanding of Asian culture and languages has proved invaluable when working in the community. He enjoys the sharing and learning of new skills and the sense of friendship and belonging that's hard to find in other jobs.

Are you?

- ♦ Aged 17 ½ years or over? ♦ Calm in a crisis?
- ♦ A good team player? ♦ Motivated?

Can you?

- ♦ Reach the fire station within 5 minutes of being called from a personal pager when on duty?
- ♦ Gain permission from your primary employer to be a retained firefighter.
- ♦ Provide on-call availability for an agreed number of hours per week?
- ♦ Attend a minimum 2 ½ hours training session at the station one evening a week?

If the answer is YES, visit your local fire station or www.oncallfire.uk for more information.
